pany Has Had Good Year.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Lester & Wasley company was held at the company's office Monday morning. The reports of the officers showed the company to have had a good year and with a good amount of business in sight for the ensuing twelve months. The export trade of the concern does not appear to have suffered as the result of the war.

were re-elected for the year: Frederick W. Lester, Howard L. Stanton, Frank H. Allen, George W. Armstrong cutting off the woods on the east side of the river above the mill dam. A sawmill has been erected and the trees are being cut down and sawed up into boards and ties. Mr. Pattison has charge of the sawmill.

By a typographical error it was stated that Rev. P. J. Werth officiated at the funeral of Mrs. John Heberding.
It should have been that Rev. Arthur Varley officiated.

Time of Accident.

Late Monday afternoon at the close of the hearing in the case of Mrs.
Mary Foley of Waterford, whose husband was killed by a reckless automobile driver in October, Compensation Commissioner James J. Donohue reserved his decision. The case is a peculiar one as there is some doubt as to whom the employer was, as Mr.
Foley was on the pay roll of the Redden Construction company and had been loaned to the F. H. and A. P.
Chappell company when the wagon he was driving in Groton was hit by the reckless automobile driver. The accident happened on October 24th, 1914, and Mr. Foley died two days later in the Groton hospital. Charles B.
Whitlsey, Esq., appeared for the Chappell company, Edmund Zacher, Esq., of New Haven for the Redden Construction company and Christopher Avery, Esq., for Mrs. Foley. After hearing the facts in the case Commissioner Donohue announced that he would reserve his decision.

The following compensation agreements were approved on Monday:

the left finger of her right hand. The wich and Frank Butryda, Norwich. He received burns on the palm of one of his hands on December 12. The award in his case was $5.54 weekly from December 23.

ma Silvia, New London. On December 22 he fractured his right arm and was awarded $3.19 weekly from Anna Warner Bailey chapter, D. A.

R. of Groton and Stonington have recently received a letter from Mrs.
Cuthbert Harrison Slocumb, first regent and organizer of the chapter, who now lives in Taftville. She describes the war relief work as being carried on in that country and particularly mentions the lack of yarn with which the women are contending in their attempt to supply the soldiers with socks and gloves.

A pleasant surprise party was given Emil Teller at his home on South B street Saturday evening in honor of his birthday. About 40 guests were present and enjoyed the evening with games and dancing. During the evening refreshments were served by the hostess. The party was a most successful one, wishing Mr. Teller many happy returns of the day.
